Small Change – Big Impact

Distribution of 50,000 hot meals and 5,000 emergency care packages which included food, personal hygiene products, and essential equipment for use in shelters. Additionally, winter kits-containing radiators, down blankets, and other thermal protection items-were provided. Furthermore, 600 pairs of eyeglasses were distributed to Holocaust survivors, and 200 Holocaust survivors received guidance on maximizing their financial rights.

Support for educational assistance, emotional care, and other treatments were provided for over 2,500 youth-at-risk evacuated from their homes due to the war. Throughout the year, thousands of children from evacuated families were provided with recreational relief activities, and special activities were offered for children with special needs. Likewise, maritime activities were provided for 8,000 war-affected individuals.

First responses for emotional needs were provided to tens of thousands of reserve duty soldiers and their families, as well as to injured and evacuated individuals. Additionally, over 100,000 children and youth struggling to cope with the implications of the war were referred for support. Furthermore, first responses were given to 10,000 Holocaust survivors experiencing renewed trauma, as painful memories resurfaced.

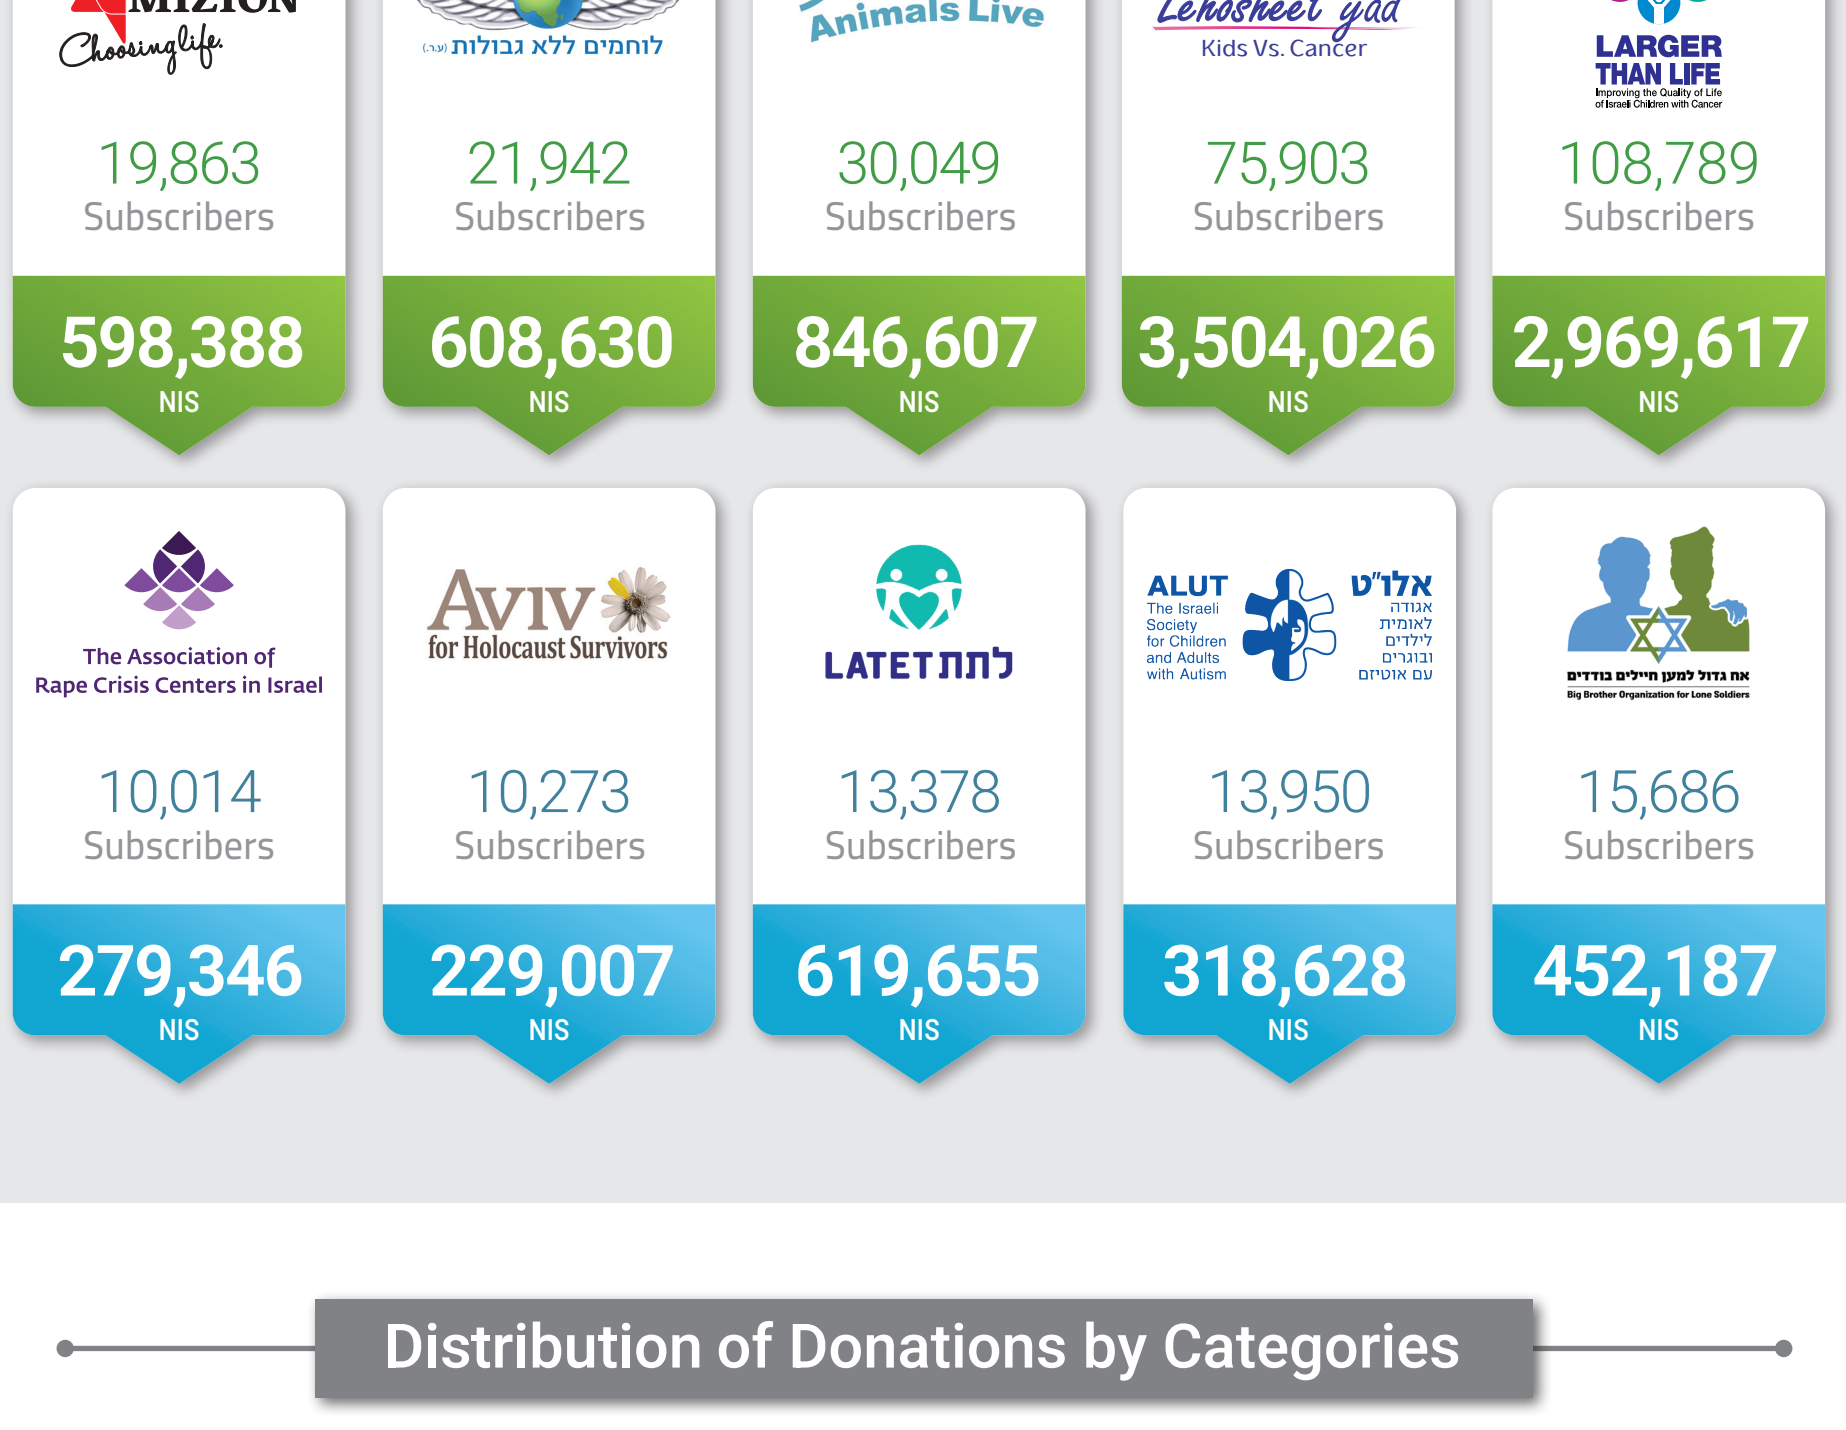

630 abandoned dogs were placed in a welcoming home. 4,812 stray cats were spayed and provided with palliative veterinary care. 13,000 volunteer hours were dedicated to domestic pets, and a special project was launched for empowerment and accompaniment of the elderly and youth-at-risk using therapy dogs. In addition, therapy dogs were provided for war victims and children with special needs from the Gaza border for emotional support.
